

A SAD DEATH.

Miss Mary E. Wilmore, Young in Years, Crosses Over The River of Death.

FUNERAL SERVICES FRIDAY MORNING.

Death invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilmore, Gradyville, last Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, and removed their daughter, Mary, age 15 years, after an illness of four or five days. She was violently attacked with malignant typhoid fever and death was superinduced by heart failure.

She was a bright little girl, the idol of fond parents and dearly loved by her brothers and sisters. All the family were present when the summons came, excepting Jas. A., a brother, who is in college at Lexington, and Miss Clara, a sister, who is teaching in Tennessee, both of whom arrived in time to see the remains.

The funeral services were held at Union Friday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. H. C. Seadidge and J. R. Crawford. The church was crowded with relatives and friends to pay their respects to the departed and to mingle their sympathies with the sorrowing parents and affectionate brothers and sisters.

The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian Church, having given her heart to God a few years ago. She was ready for the Master's call, and it was hard to give her up, it was a consolation to know that she is now numbered with the angels in that celestial city where there is no sickness nor death. We speak of death, but really there is no death for those who die in the fear and admonition of the Lord. It is a separation from a sinful world to be received and crowned in the heavenly home above.

A Tribute of Respect.

The Gradyville Baptist Missionary Society and Sunbeam Band were bereft of one of its most active, devoted and lovely members on Wednesday night at 10:20, October 14, 1908—the passing of Miss Mary E. Wilmore, the affectionate daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilmore. Her death brought great sorrow to our society, and while her presence will be very greatly missed, we rejoice that she is now a shining sunbeam in the celestial city of God. We will not again hear her sweet voice in this land where sorrow is continuous, coming to our homes, but we can go to her. Therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of our beloved little sister our Society and Band has lost one of its best members, one who was dearly loved and whose death brought grief and distress to many hearts.

2. That we offer our tenderest sympathy to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters, knowing that they have sustained an irreparable loss—a lovely daughter and an affectionate sister.

3. That this preamble and the resolutions be spread upon the records of our societies and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

4. That the members of the Society and Sunbeam Band wear the usual badge of mourning for 30 days.

Mrs. Sallie B. Wilmore,
Mrs. Maggie Y. Nell,
Mrs. Ella Y. Robertson,
Mrs. Ella R. Nell,
Mrs. Emma Kean,
Committee.

BY THE JUVENILE SOCIETY.

Whereas, God in his wisdom has taken from us Miss Mary Wilmore, our good and efficient President of the Juvenile Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, Gradyville, Ky., be it resolved,

1. That we have sustained a very great loss in her death.

2nd. That we, as a society, may ever keep her name and the life she lived before us in memory and try to emulate her character.

3rd. We request and urge the members of said society to follow the good examples set before them by her and live so when the summons comes they will be ready to go and meet her where parting will be no more.

4th. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and commend them to their trust in God who doeth all things well, and to live so when the summons comes they will be ready to meet Mary in Heaven where parting will be no more.

5th. That these resolutions be spread on the record-book of said society and published in the Adair County News and Columbia Spectator and a copy sent to the family.

A terrific fight occurred at Cane Valley last Sunday forenoon between Sylvester Murrell and Joel Hutchison. Both parties were brought to Columbia in the afternoon Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Clarence Page. While neither party was seriously hurt, they were both considerably cut in the head, the weapons used being rocks. We approached Mr. Murrell in order to learn what brought about the trouble, but he refused to talk, and the parties who came to town with him and Mr. Hutchison said they did not know. They will be given trials this week. Learner Johnson was also mixed up in the difficulty. All the parties were before Judge Hancock Monday. They were fined $5 each, made friends and left for their respective homes, all no doubt sorry that the trouble occurred.

The population of Columbia, counting people who live just outside the corporate limits, but are town's people to all intents and purposes, is between twelve and fourteen hundred. Out of that number we can not call to memory but seven persons who were living here fifty-five years ago, and who have constantly remained here during all those years. They are Mr. J. Coffey, S. Squire John Eubank, Mr. W. C. Murrell, Mesdames Ann Eubank, Bettie Butler, and Sallie Bradshaw, who reside on Hill. There are persons in town who have lived here fifty-five years, but they removed to other places and returned.

Mr. David Beard, charged with selling liquor, was tried in the Federal Court at Louisville last week and acquitted. Mr. Beard is the postmaster at Cane Valley, this county. The charge against him grew out of issuing money orders for parties made payable to liquor dealers, as we understand. Mr. W. T. Elder, who was the postmaster at Atchison, Taylor county, was tried for appropriating post office money for his own use, then replacing the amount. He was convicted, and unless he is given a new trial he will have to do some time in a government prison.

You soon discover how many people are about the square when the fire alarm is sounded. Last Thursday afternoon, seemingly, there were very few people on the square, but the fire alarm was given. Coming from the residence of Mr. E. L. Fees, who lives on the street leading to the Fair Grounds and near the corner leading down hill street. In a few minutes a hundred men were en route to the scene. Fortunately, but a little damage was done. A spark from a fuse had set the roof on fire, but was extinguished before the main crowd got upon the grounds.

No young lady ever visited Columbia who made more friend than has Miss Mayme Depp, of Glasgow, who has been the leader of the chorus class during the meeting which has been in progress at the Christian church for the past two weeks. She has become acquainted with the young people in town and without an exception they are very fond of her. She is engaged in a high and noble calling, and her services are very helpful and are adding much to the success of the meeting.

The only way to build the pike from here to the County line is to raise stock for the enterprise to the amount of eight or ten thousand dollars. The stock can be secured if some two or three energetic men will go to work and get it subscribed. This enterprise will be a great benefit to Adair county and no time should be lost in getting every thing in a tangible shape. Remember that the Fiscal Court takes one-third of the stock.

Mr. Sam Kash, of Manchester, Clay county, spoke to a fair audience at the court-house last Saturday afternoon in the interest of the Republican party. We failed to hear him, but take it that his speech was along the line that other Republican orators are now delivering over the State. Mr. Kash is a speaker of considerable reputation, and members of his party whom we have heard express themselves, say that the present side of the issue is in a very forcible manner.

Rev. A. C. Blake, who is pastor of the United Brethren Church, this place, arrived here last Saturday afternoon. His former home was Elkton, W. Va. He will at once inaugurate a move to have the contemplated church building erected at this place. Until the building is put up, Rev. Blake will preach in the court-house, his first appointment being next Sunday forenoon and evening. Every body is cordially invited.

AT THE PARSONAGE.

Mr. Sam F. Barbee and Miss Cora Pickett Married Thursday Evening at 7 O'clock.

THE UNION WAS GENERALLY EXPECTED.

Last Thursday evening Mr. Sam F. Barbee and Miss Cora Pickett drove to the residence of Rev. A. R. Kasey where they took the marriage vows in the presence of a few relatives and friends. Congratulations followed. This marriage was not a surprise to the friends of the contracting parties, it being understood that the union was soon to take place.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple repaired to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Barbee, who live on Campbellville pike just beyond the bridge, and where, for the present, they will reside. The groom is an industrious young man and is quite popular with his many friends. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Pickett, who reside on Greenburg street. She, too, is popular with the young people, and will be greatly missed by the younger set. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Barbee have reached twenty years of age. We trust that their days may be long upon this earth, and that happiness may attend them in all their undertakings.

The Meeting.

In anticipation of an unusually large crowd, last Sunday evening, Eld. W. H. Pinkerton was invited to hold services in the court-house instead of the Christian church and it was the correct move, for that large hall was crowded to its utmost capacity. His sermon was one of power and the strong appeal made to the unconverted ought to ring in the ears of the unrighteous and bring forth fruit many days hence. The many people who have not been attending the meeting are cheating themselves out of an intellectual and spiritual feast. A man of remarkable intellect, of intense earnestness, devoting all his time and talents to the saving of souls ought to have a crowded house on every occasion. The services all along have been of interest and much good has been accomplished.

Miss Mayme Depp, of Glasgow, who is leading the chorus, keeps in good voice and her singing and management is universally praised. All the members of the choir have melodious voices, and are rendering music with a hearty good will. Sunday night Eld. Z. F. Williams and wife rendered beautifully a very touching duet. The meeting will probably continue through this week.

The Greensburg Pike.

No cause can progress without earnest, intense devotion. Christianity would soon disappear had it not zealous advocates. So it is with every movement looking to the advancement of a community, the development of a people and the bettering of conditions. The News does not want the Greensburg pike killed by indifference. It is to be built to this entire community to be lightly considered and its advocates must keep alive its great worth. The county has made a liberal proposition, but none too broad for its own good and now it must rest on energy, the determination and ability of the people in the section through which it is to be built and the business people of Columbia. It will be a fearful mistake to allow this to fail. Talk it to your friends, study it yourself and don't allow it to fall asleep. The road is needed, the people are able to build it. It cannot fail to be a good investment.

Death of Dr. D. McDonald.

Last Thursday morning at 2 o'clock Dr. Donald McDonald, a prominent Presbyterian minister, a native of Scotland, well-known in Columbia and throughout Kentucky, died in the Columbia Hospital, at Williamsburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa. He was a victim of typhoid fever. The deceased had resided at Danville, Ky., for a number of years past, and only recently went to Pittsburgh to take up work in that city. In recent years he often visited Columbia, Greensburg and Greenburg, in the interest of the Presbyterian Church. He leaves a wife and several children.

Found by the Roadside.

Last Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock, Mr. J. D. Todd, a well to do farmer, who lives near town, was found by Mr. Will Smith lying in an unconscious condition in public road near his residence, his horse grazing near by. Mr. Smith gave the alarm and Mr. Todd was conveyed to his home and Dr. Russell and Hindman called. After working with him an hour or two, administering restoratives, Mr. Todd came to himself, and Thursday afternoon he was feeling all right, but a little weak. He stated that he did not know what had happened and had no recollection of falling from his horse. The Drs. state that heart failure was the cause.

Wolford Bros., of Casey creek, bought a half interest in Royal Peacock from James Goff. We did not learn the price paid but that cuts but little figure in the deal. Royal Peacock is a fine individual, of good size and plenty of speed. He carries some of the heat strains of blood and has proven to be a great sire of all purpose horses. The people of that section should feel proud of this acquisition to the horse-farm of their section and give an unlimited patronage.

The entertainment which was to have been given by the young ladies of the Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church next Thursday night at the Lindsey-Wilson Chapel, has been deferred until Thursday night the 29th. The meeting at the Christian church makes it necessary to prolong the time for this entertainment. Remember the date, Lindsey-Wilson Chapel, Thursday evening, Oct. 29.

Eld. John S. Sweeney, whose serious illness was mentioned in last week's News, has gone to his rest. The deceased was born and reared at Liberty, Ky., and partially educated at the Sanders Academy, this county. For many years he had made his home in Ky., where he died. He was perhaps the most widely known minister of the Christian Church in Kentucky.

The court house at Campbellville is being remodeled. The present building is to be raised to two stories; the first floor will be used for offices for the county officials and iron vaults for the safe keeping of all records, while the second floor will be used for the court room and witness and jury rooms and when completed will be a credit to the county.

The Ashbury Methodist Church building, situated on the Campbellville pike, near old Tazewell, will be dedicated by Rev. B. F. Atkinson, of Louisville, the second Sunday in November. There will be an abundance of dinner on the ground and every body is cordially invited. Rev. Jesse L. Murrell is the pastor of the Church.

The following changes have been made in the list of election officers for the November election: In East Columbia, A. D. Patterson, sheriff, in place of J. C. Strange, who has removed out of the district; in Keltner precinct, Mana Kemp, Judge, instead of E. A. Thompson, who is not in the district.

Our readers will miss the Gradyville letter this week. The reason for its non appearance is, that our correspondent, Mr. W. M. Wilmore, was bereft of a daughter on the night of the 14, the interment occurring Friday. The particulars of this death can be found elsewhere in the News.

A large crowd attended the hall game last Saturday afternoon between Campbellville and Cane Valley, played on the grounds of the latter. It was in fact a very considerable game was called. At the windup the score stood 5 to 4 in favor of Cane Valley.

Eld. Leslie Bottom has been remarkably successful in meetings he has recently conducted. He closed one at Poplar Hill last week with eighty-one additions, making in the last two months 215 additions to two Churches—Humphrey and Poplar Hill.

Rev. J. R. Crawford reports that he was in a very successful meeting at Christiansburg, Tenn. Eight persons had united with the Church up to the time he left, and there were evidences of others to follow.

Besides the Peacock coats purchased by Mr. U. S. Haynes, reported in the News two weeks ago, he bought four others from different parties ranging in price from $125 to $150. The whole bunch went to Missouri.

Mr. W. B. Patterson, Adair's very efficient Sheriff, in some way, came in possession of some very rare peacock coats, which he is now presenting the News with a choice one for which he will please accept our thanks.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will compile a cook book to be called The Adair County Cook book, and will be glad to have recipes from every woman in the county.

Valuable coupons in every package of Oco Coffee. 50-21.

The Farmers' Institute.

The Adair county Farmers' Institute held in the Court-house last Tuesday and Wednesday was lightly attended, but notwithstanding it was an interesting meeting and worth a good deal to those who attended. Mr. J. A. English, the chairman, did his whole duty and showed the utmost consideration to every one throughout the entire program. Gov. J. R. Hindman delivered the opening address—the speech of welcome, to Mr. Walker and Mr. Rouben, the men selected by the state to conduct it, and while we were not present at that particular hour, yet we are informed that the Governor measured up to the full expectations of those present.

The program embraced many subjects, largely to be discussed by our people, but in the main no special preparation had been made and therefore of but little worth to the agriculturist. The gentlemen representing the State did their duty and made interesting and instructive talks on nearly every proposition. One of the best subjects assigned was read by Mrs. W. K. Azbill on "How to Beautify the Home." Her subject was ably and interestingly presented and a pity that so few were present to enjoy it. One of the features of the meeting was the bringing to the front of Mr. E. H. Price on the subject, "Some mistakes we farmers make." For which a premium of two dollars was offered by Gov. J. R. Hindman and county Attorney, Paul Smith, for the best speech, not to exceed five minutes.

Several speeches were made on this subject pointing out various mistakes, but Mr. Price was given the premium on the ground that he said more to the point in fewer words than any of the others. It is quite a compliment, well deserved and likewise appreciated by the gentleman who bears the honor for facts briefly, but pointedly stated.

More than half of the program was rendered before the News man had the privilege of being present and therefore this report may fall short of the true situation. It is to be hoped that our people will take more interest in the future than was manifested in this meeting and that much good will result to our farmers.

Game Laws.

As it is a well-known fact that many unknowingly violate the Kentucky game laws, The News gives below the time it is lawful to shoot game:

Quail, pheasant and wild turkey, from Nov. 15 to Jan. 1.
Rabbit, from Nov. 15 to Sept. 15.
Squirrel, from Nov. 15 to Feb. 1, also June 15 to Sept. 15.
Duck and geese, from Aug. 15 to April 1.
Woodcock, from June 20 to Feb. 1.
Doves from Aug. 1 to Feb. 1.
Snipe, at any time.

It is unlawful to shoot any thrush, meadow lark, finch, martin, swallow, woodpecker, red or blue bird, catbird, or any other song or insectivorous bird. Possession of animal or bird or within prohibited time is evidence of guilt.

You are not allowed to shoot, hunt or fish on inclosed grounds without consent of owner. Violators are subject to fine of from $5 to $25.

It can be seen from the above that our people have to be careful not to be killed until Nov. 15, and it is hoped, that our farmers and others will see to it that the law is enforced, should it be violated. Hunters from town, and many of our country boys, could in a very short time kill all the game in Adair county, if they were permitted to shoot at any time they pleased.

Have We an Oil Trust Among Us?

In talking a few days ago to a merchant of Dunville, I learned that the Standard Oil Company furnished oil to the merchants of Dunville, after hauling it from Junction City a distance of thirty miles, at 94 cents per gallon, delivered in their tanks. They then sell it to their customers at 13 cents. Now in Columbia I do not know what the merchants pay for it, but I do know that the people pay 20 cents for it, and it is not likely that the Standard Oil Company would charge more for their oil when they have to haul it only twenty miles. If the merchants buy it at 94 cents and sell it for twenty, it is very extortionate, and if they charge the merchants here more than they do at Dunville, it is something our people ought to look into.

U. L. Taylor.

Mr. S. R. Walker informed the News last Thursday that all the tobacco in the lower end of Adair and in Metcalfe county had been sold. The prices ranged from $10 to $14.00 per cwt. 50-21.

Gov. J. R. Hindman is having new porches built to the front and to either side of his residence which will be greatly to the appearance of his home.

Rev. A. R. Kasey will assist the pastor of the Methodist Church in a series of meetings, beginning at Jamestown Monday night after the second Sunday in November.

Mr. J. C. Strange will erect a cottage on the lot between where Mr. C. H. Murrell resides and Mr. J. V. White's home at once. He hopes to complete and remove to the building by the first of the coming year.

Thanks.

We feel very grateful to the many friends who so kindly and tenderly waited upon our beloved daughter during her illness, resulting in death. Their steadfast devotion will never be forgotten.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilmore.

FORGERY

Cleveland Letter Attacking Mr. Bryan Declared Spurious.

ROOSEVELT THE POLITICIAN.

Using His High Office as Ground From Which to Attack Political Opponents. Enthusiastic Crowds Great Democratic Presidential Candidate—Empty Halls Face Taft.

By WILLIS J. ABBOT.

Naturally the great political event of the week was the admission by the New York Times that the widely circulated Cleveland letter declaring for Taft as against Bryan was spurious and a forgery. It is rather interesting to observe by the correspondence that from the very first moment Mrs. Cleveland, with the natural intuition of a wife, distrusted the authenticity of the article, though the literary executor insisted upon its accuracy. Now, after it has been permitted to do its work in rousing anew the hostility of the old time Cleveland Democrats against the Democratic party as now organized, comes this letter which proves its falsity. There is an old, old saying that a lie will travel ten miles while the denial of it travels one. I suppose that today there are tens of thousands of people who believe and who will believe until election day that this forged letter of Cleveland's, supposed to have been written on his deathbed, was really authentic. It was published first in a newspaper controlled in Wall street and alleged to be the property of J. Pierpont Morgan. It has been commented upon approvingly by every plutocratic paper in the United States. When it was originally printed it was put in double headed type with glaring headings and with all sorts of editorial embellishments. The denial was modestly printed in a single column article without any sort of typographical display.

Suppose somebody had forged the signature of the late ex-president in a letter urging all Democrats to vote for Mr. Bryan and that letter had been given currency through practically the whole press of the United States. What would have been the attitude of the great papers of New York or of Chicago concerning that? Would they have mildly said that they had been imposed upon? Would they have reduced their expense of its publication to a brief stick or two in single column measure? We all know well what would have happened. The literary adventurer would have been forgotten, but the charge would have been made that the whole fraud or forgery had emanated either from Mr. Bryan himself or from the Democratic national committee. Everybody knows that the first pages would have been blazed with the wickedness of the Democratic organization in thus forging the name of a revered statesman in a spurious document issued after his death.

Concerning Foraker and Haskell. And why is it that there has been such a tremendous outcry about one Governor C. N. Haskell of Oklahoma, who has occupied a rather inconspicuous position in connection with the Democratic national committee? The attack upon him is being made by William Randolph Hearst, who at the same time attacked with equal venom Senator J. B. Foraker. The evidence concerning Haskell was to the effect that Theodore Roosevelt, the president of the United States, said that Frank S. Monnett, former attorney general of Ohio, said that a man named Squire had said to him that Haskell had said that he and Frank G. Rockefeller would put up a big sum of money to call off a certain procession of the Standard Oil company in the state of Ohio. One does not have to be a lawyer to judge what testimony of that sort is worth. But the Republican newspapers, always ready to say the worst of any man who believes in Democratic principles, and the president of the United States, who is always preaching the square deal, but usually dealing in crooked deals from the bottom of the pack, attacked Governor Haskell on this utterly inconsequential and unlawful evidence. Being a man of honor, Governor Haskell resigned his position as treasurer of the Democratic national committee lest he embarrass the candidate for the presidency. But the very day he resigned the man Squire, who was the only authority for the Monnett affidavit, put out a statement that he had never used the name of C. N. Haskell in any interview with Monnett. It is a fact that he never had any association with any attempt to bribe the attorney general of Ohio in behalf of the Standard Oil company or any other corporation. It would appear now that it is up to Mr. Monnett to defend himself. Incidentally it may be recalled that he is not a Democrat, but a Republican, although ever since beaten for renomination he has been sipping in his tent.

Two Candidates and Two Receptions. Mr. Bryan a few days ago visited the city of Cincinnati, the home town of Taft and the town in which he had intended to remain throughout the campaign until that intention was shattered by the reports of Bryan going all through the United States. This is what the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper whose owner is not over-friendly to Mr. Bryan, had to say about his reception there.

"Twelve years ago William Jennings Bryan as a Democratic candidate for president drew 60,000 people to Music hall, the record breaking in the history of Cincinnati. Last night the same man, with a seemingly more magnetite influence, attracted such a slightly multitude to see and hear him that the very lowest estimate was 75,000."

It was not my good fortune to be in Cincinnati at the time of this magnificent meeting, but I was in Chicago three days before, when Mr. Taft visited that city to make his first speech since his nomination. The committee in charge of his campaign had engaged a hall which would seat well above 12,000 people. For some reason known only to them they canceled the order for this hall and selected one on the most fashionable thoroughfare of the city seating not more than 2,000. The majestic presence of Taft did not fill the hall. The meeting was to be "by ticket." But I went in myself without a ticket just as Judge Taft was speaking and found no difficulty in getting a seat for myself and four other companions. Usually a small hall is picked out with the purpose of having a tremendous overflow meeting. In this instance there was no overflow. There were about fifty or sixty policemen who would have been called to restrain the turbulent crowd that never arrived.

This is the contrast between the receptions of the two candidates.

Taft in Wisconsin.

H. H. Manson, Democratic state chairman of Wisconsin, throws an interesting side light on the meeting of employees of the Allis-Chalmers company near Milwaukee, to which some excellent newspaper men referred as immensely enthusiastic and evincing loyal support of Judge Taft by the laboring men.

"I was at that meeting," Mr. Manson said, "and it is well known that company asked the men on the company's time to hear Judge Taft, stopping the works by blowing the whistle as a signal when the speaking was to begin."

"Judge about 4,000 men were present. At least a thousand of them were in their hats placards bearing this device: 'What has Taft done for the laboring men? God only knows!'"

"This, of course, refers to an answer given by Judge Taft to a question asked at one of his meetings as to what he proposed doing with the thousands of idle men in the country."

Mr. Manson predicts that Wisconsin will go to the Democratic column this year.

He says that he has been crushed by the Taft machine. Much of his following in our state has been from Bryan Democrats. They won't support Taft, but they will support La Follette. They'll vote for Bryan and Kern. What else can they do? Having been sincere in supporting La Follette because of his opposition to what Taft represents, of course they will continue to oppose what Taft personifies and will vote for Bryan."

Roosevelt to the Front. Of course we expected that President Roosevelt would keep out of this campaign. While it is not customary for the president of the United States to step down to the position of an ordinary political manager, the Roosevelt enthusiasm has this time, as ever before, enabled him to override all precedents and to abandon all sense of official propriety. We have in public life now two Theodoroses. We have Roosevelt the president of the United States and Roosevelt the Republican politician, quite as practical as he was when he buried E. R. Harriman to come to the White House and discuss ways and means of carrying with money the pending election. Roosevelt is a political manager, honor or respect because of the dignity of the high office which he holds. Roosevelt the politician can demand no more immunity from partisan attacks, although his friends resent those attacks, than if he were the chairman of Tammany Hall or Boss Cox of Cincinnati, his political friend this year. Mr. Roosevelt has seen fit to thrust into this campaign the great authority and the great dignity of the office of the president. That in itself is a strange thing upon the American electorate. The president's personal views are his own, and it would be entirely proper for him to express them and within reason. No president ever failed to desire the success of the party which had honored him. But no president before this one has sent out letters every other day attacking his opponents and basing his charges against them upon merely hearsay evidence or upon the imaginings of his own vitally prejudiced mind.

Mr. Roosevelt has linked his arm with that of William Randolph Hearst. What Hearst has said about Senator Foraker, although his friends resent those attacks, than if he were the chairman of Tammany Hall or Boss Cox of Cincinnati, his political friend this year. No president ever failed to desire the success of the party which had honored him. But no president before this one has sent out letters every other day attacking his opponents and basing his charges against them upon merely hearsay evidence or upon the imaginings of his own vitally prejudiced mind.

TO PEOPLE OF ADAIR COUNTY!

It takes money to run a campaign and it takes a great deal of it to successfully engineer one of national scope. The present attitude of the Democratic party excludes contribution from the powerful corporations and trusts and consequently must rely on the loyalty, patriotism and free-will offerings of the great common people to meet the demands of legitimate campaign expenses and the sooner this is met the more life, enthusiasm and effectiveness will be given the work necessary to win. It is the duty, as well as a privilege, for every person who believes in and desires democratic success to contribute to this fund. A request has been made that Democratic papers solicit for this purpose and forward same to the National Committee. We obey the suggestion and ask every true Democrat to help in this fight to restore to the great bulk of the people their rights, their privileges and the blessings of a free government. Any amount from one dollar up will be cheerfully received and promptly forwarded to the Committee. Fill out the following and enclose your contribution:

For The Farmer.

The Kansas corn crop is enormous this year and in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa and throughout the corn belt the yield will be well up to an average good crop.

Indiana is said to have a wheat area estimated at 27,000 acres. The average yield per acre is low, and much of the work of handling the crop is still done in a primitive fashion.

The demand for young colts and mule colts at Shelbyville, Tenn., is heavier than ever known at this season of the year and higher prices are being demanded. Especially is this so with mule colts. Every day last week large numbers of these young animals have been brought into town for sale and high prices have ruled. From $100 to $125 have been the prices demanded, and many of the animals have been sold at over $100.

The government crop report for July places the average of Irish potatoes for 1908 at 3,198,000 acres, which is 2.4 per cent or 74,000 acres more than last year. The condition of the crop on July 1 was 89.6 per cent of a normal as compared with 90.2 per cent a year ago.

It is said that at Cheshire, Conn., stands an apple tree which is known to be 190 years old and is believed to be still older than this. The tree is about seventy feet high while the circumference at the trunk is seventeen feet. There are eight large branches, five of which bear fruit one year the other three the next. One year this giant tree bore 130 bushels of apples. The tree is regular in form, and the area shaded by its branches is 130 feet in diameter.

Fight With Mad Dog.

Joseph Hayes, one of the best known farmers in Washington county, had an exciting and dangerous combat with a mad dog. Mr. Hayes lives in the west end of the county, and his children, who were playing about the corn crib, called his attention to the fact that a strange dog was under the crib, and he went out to drive the dog off, when it attacked him, springing at his throat. Mr. Hayes grabbed the dog with both hands, and after biting his suspenders in two he brute tore a large place in his breast and bit him on the temple. A mad stone was applied to the two wounds and adhered for three hours to each one, but Mr. Hayes family being very uneasy about him persuaded him to take other treatment, and he is now at the Pastur Institute in Chicago. It is said that the dog traveled from Nelson county into Washington, and on the way had bitten several other dogs. After biting Mr. Hayes the dog was killed by neighbors who pursued it.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Chairman Mack Predicts Success.

Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has made known the reasons upon which he bases his prediction that New York State may safely be regarded as Democratic this year, and they are as follows:

"The Democratic party in New York was never more united, not even in 1892, than it is this year. The State is never doubtful when the Democrats stand together. With a united party we find our opponents all 'shot to pieces.'"

"Some Republicans are opposing Roosevelt others are against Hughes, while another faction is set against Taft. As an instance of the union of the Democratic forces, the National Democratic Club, of New York City, composed of 1,400 members, made up of bankers, merchants and professional men, opposed Bryan almost to a man in 1896 and 1900."

"I am told that 95 per cent of the club membership is ready to support Bryan this year, and that the club recently passed resolutions indorsing him and has contributed $2,500 with promise to contribute a like amount later. With this situation I feel that New York is not only safe for Bryan, but there will be a Democratic landslide."

Nothing Can Defeat Bryan.

George Valentine, a retired business man and prominent Republican politician, of Los Angeles, Cal., is at the Riggs. Mr. Valentine is accompanied by his wife, and is making a trip East for his health.

Discussing the political situation along this Pacific Coast, Mr. Valentine, who is prominent in the ranks of the Republican party in his State, said that there had taken place a most remarkable change of the heart in favor of Bryan, and that the Democratic candidate had excellent chances of carrying California.

"The Republican party seems to be in a bad fix," said the Californian, "and if the Bryan sentiment is as strong in other parts of the country as it is in Los Angeles and California, there is nothing, under the sun that can prevent his election. I know quite a number of republicans personally who will vote for Bryan."

"Labor, whether organized or not, will support Candidate Bryan as a rule. The laboring men, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary, are paying the closest possible attention to the views of Mr. Gompers in the matter; they are convinced that he had their interests at heart, and that he is fair and square and honest."

"The Japanese question is by no means disposed of along the Pacific Coast. It is merely dormant, but by no means dead. There is no doubt in my mind but that it will bob up again at the most unexpected moment."—Washington Herald.

Declares For Ben Johnson.

The Breckinridge News, a Republican newspaper, published at Cloverport, announces editorially that it will support Congressman Johnson for Congress. It says:

"Col Ben Johnson made a good clean record in his seat in Congress last session. He was in his place at every roll call. He filled it, too, as very few men have ever filled it for the first term. He took to it like a duck to water. He was there for business and he did business. Pity we haven't had a man like him there for the past twenty years. Our rivers, especially the Ohio, would have been in very much better shape we are sure. Ben Johnson is a worker, he's not an idler, a time killer, but a hard worker. He's been a busy man all his life, in public and private walks. And that's the secret of his success. We need such men to look after our interests, and when we get a man like Johnson we ought to keep him there. They do it in other States, why not in Kentucky? Democrats, Republicans, Independents and good citizens who believe in the man and his works should support Ben Johnson. The News intends to do it with a hearty good will."

Don't Be A Knocker.

If there is any chance to boom business, boom it. Don't pull a long face and look as though you had a sour stomach. Hold up your head, smile and look for better things. Hide your little hammer and try to speak well of others, no matter how small you may know yourself to be. When a stranger drops in jolly him.

Tell him this is a great city—and so it is. Don't discourage him by speaking ill of your neighbors. Lead him to believe he has at last found a place where good people live.

Don't knock.

Help yourself along by becoming popular and push your friend along with you. It's very easy. Be a good fellow and soon you'll have a procession of followers. No man ever helped himself by knocking other people down in business. No man ever got rich trying to make others believe he was THE ONLY, or the only one who knew anything. You can not climb the ladder of success by treading on other's corn. Keep off the corns and don't knock.

You're not "the only." There are others, and they have brains and know something as well as you. There's no end of fun finding your own business. It makes other people like you. No one admires a knocker. Don't be one, but act wise.

In His Line.

An ambitious politician, who has at various times been a candidate for public office, has a son, a lad of eight, who, meditating upon the uncertainties of kingly existence, at last asked his mother:

"If the King of England should die, who would be King?"

"The prince of Wales."

"And if he should die, who would be King?"

His mother turned the question off in some way, when the boy, with a dead breath, said:

"Well, anyway, I hope pa won't try for it."—Harper's Magazine.

The people do not expect enough of themselves. They do not realize that things they see other people do, and envy them the power of doing, they could do themselves if they only tried. So much of what seems to "come natural" to other people is only the result of long continued effort. We may not be able to do as well as they have done, but some measure of success in the same direction is within our power.

Reserved Her Verdict.

A gentleman who was no longer young, and who never was handsome, said to a child in the presence of her parents:

"Well, my dear, what do you think of me?"

The little girl made no reply, and the gentleman continued:

"Well, you don't tell me. Why won't you?"

Two little fat hands tucked the corners of a pinafore into her mouth as she said, archly, in a timid whisper:

"Cause I don't want to get whipped."

How to Cure Liver Trouble

There are usually several ways to do a given thing, but it is the aim with all of us to find the best and shortest way. It is just so in the cure of disease. People suffering from liver trouble imagine that they have to do it to take something that will physic them. There is more than that in the cure of so serious a disorder as liver trouble.

When that drowsy, dragged up feeling comes on you go to a drug store and ask for a 50 cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take a dose or two and wash it down. It will not only clear out the bowels and stimulate the liver, but it will get the blood circulating so that you feel active again, and arouse the functions of the stomach so that your appetite returns and you feel like your old self again. Simple laxative or purgative could not do that. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not only a wonderful laxative but it has tonic properties, so that while so many other things, instead of leaving you weak and drawn it builds you up and strengthens you.

It does not gripe—it acts smoothly, doing the laxative work in a pleasant and agreeable way. It is gentle but effective, pleasant to the taste and pure in quality. It is an excellent, economical home cure, and its results are permanent. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed for it.

Use it for occasional or chronic constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, sour stomach, bloated stomach, flatulency, diarrhoea, the drowsy and one other ill of the stomach, liver and bowels. It is the greatest of household remedies and no family should be without it because in a family someone at any moment may need such a laxative and then you will appreciate having Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the house.

FREE TEST With Syrup Pepsin before buying, you can have a free sample sent to your home. Simply write to Dr. Caldwell, 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Good for all ages. A guarantee—get your money back. The name is on the wrapper. Large 50 cent and Small 25 cent bottles. Write for them at Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

The London Democrat, with a picture of Hon. A. G. Patterson, of Pineville, has the following to say: "Mr. Patterson is not a machine politician. He is a self-made man, an able lawyer, a citizen of untarnished reputation, a loyal Kentuckian. He is making a clean, manly fight against the corruption and machine methods that have become amenable to free decent politics in the mountains of Kentucky. He is receiving assurances of support from Republicans who are tired of the present regime all over the district. Mr. Patterson is making an active campaign and will speak in every county before the election."

Several persons were killed and sixteen hurt in a wreck on the Ohio Central line at Sugar Ride, near Bowling Green, Ohio. A freight train ran into the rear end of an excursion train standing on the main track at the station.

MORGAN MINIAT

Millionaire's Splendid Gift to the Library of Congress.

The library of Congress received within the last few days a rare and beautiful gift from J. Pierpont Morgan of New York in the form of a collection of his collection of miniatures. The books had been heralded in some of the English periodicals and in cable dispatches from London, which aroused expectant interest in the United States. These messages have not been adequate to describe the actual beauty and sumptuousness of the work.

The books have been compiled by Dr. G. C. Williamson, who is one of the most noted of miniature experts, and the miniatures in the collection have been copied under his supervision at Hempstead. The books were privately printed by Mr. Morgan at the Chiswick Press, and this edition de luxe only twenty copies were printed, of which the library copy is No. 11. The Queen of England and President Roosevelt were the first to receive similar gifts.

The books are covered by plush lined boxes, and they are deposited in the prints division, where they are kept in the special cases designed for treasures.

The book is bound in white vellum with a hand hammered oxidized silver shield in the center of each cover. The corners and clasps are also silver of the most beautiful design. On these shields and corners are tiny initials and monograms of some of the artists represented in the work. One of the volumes, containing miniatures by Richard Cosway, is ornamented by a figure shaped shield outlined with delicate silver ribbon scroll and vine, a facsimile of Richard Cosway's autograph in blue enamel written across the center. The small initials in the corners are also blue, the whole decoration of this volume being lighter in design.

Of the two others one is decorated in the French style, the scene representing the artist's studio in the sixteenth century, and the third is copied from a medieval volume in the Vatican library.

Two more volumes are to be added, and it is expected two years will be required to complete the work.

VARSITY CO-ED NINE.

Michigan University Puts Baseball on Required List For Girls.

It may not be many years before the men of the University of Michigan will have to meet the co-eds on the diamond to see which nine shall have the honor of representing the university in contests with other institutions. Hereafter every first year girl who is not excused for some good reason will be required to play baseball on the new athletic field recently opened out for exclusive use of the women students.

In addition to baseball there will be outdoor basketball, basketball, country walks, these sports supplementing the regular work in the Barbour gymnasium.

Case of Curing a Leper.

The health officer at Wellington, N. Z., has sanctioned the discharge of a Māori leper after eight months' confinement in the lazaretto. It is stated that the leper was cured by a treatment consisting of injections of a culture of the leprosy bacillus invented by Professor Dyck of Constantinople. Other sufferers from the disease who are undergoing the treatment have greatly improved.

Big Yield of Apples on Small Orchard. As an illustration of what can be done by suitable cultivation, pruning and spraying, E. F. Stephens of Crete, Neb., has this season picked 310 bushels of Grimes' Golden Pippin apples from a little less than an eighth of an acre or at the rate of 775 bushels of apples per acre.

Bicycle For Blind People.

An Englishman has invented a bicycle for the blind. In reality it is a multicycle, carrying twelve riders, led by a seeing person, who does the steering.

Mrs. Harry Thompson, a sister of the late Thomas E. Moss, of Paducah, former Attorney General died at the home of her brother-in-law, Capt. Thomas G. Poore, at Frankfort. She was about 70 years of age.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President,
Wm J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President,
J. W. KERN, of Indiana.

For Congress,
A. G. PATTERSON, of Pell county.

The outlook for Mr. Bryan has not lost any luster but is growing brighter, as the days pass, and the real issues are more thoroughly understood. The Democratic speakers are not indulging in demagoguery, they are not appealing to the prejudices nor relying on tainted money to win the battle. Shall the people rule is the key note, and is the man greater than the dollar?—must our people bow and serve monopolies whose purpose is to collect wealth? In every section of the country the great common people are rapidly awakening to the tendency of the party in power. They see a powerful Federal machine whose mistakes and reckless adventures to perpetuate itself have already cost the people millions of dollars in the shrinkage of securities, in the great business depressions now broad as the country, paralyzing business, destroying hope and imperiling the future of those who produce the wealth. They see Mr. Roosevelt entrenched in the affections of Mr. Taft and they see Mr. Taft pliant in the power of Mr. Roosevelt, whose course leads to centralization of power. In all the past no man has ever exercised the power in our government as has the President, no President has ever shown such a desire to dictate and to control the action of a political party and outline a specific policy for a successor. In the midst of prosperity when the country was healthy, without just cause other than reckless one man's power, the wheels of progress were locked and no one disputes this fact. Now Mr. Taft proclaims that he is for the same policy, that Mr. Roosevelt is greater than all who have gone before him while Mr. Roosevelt proclaims that Mr. Taft is greater and better qualified than any other man to be his successor. Mr. Bryan stands pre-eminently above such political maneuvering, such alliances and free, absolutely free from the influences that have to a large measure shaped the action of the party now in power. No man who has closely watched Mr. Bryan who has been in touch with his purposes and efforts can dispute the fact that his heart and mind are not intensely interested in the welfare of the great body of people. His party is with him in his efforts to bring back the government to its original standing when measured by the constitution. No man who believes in better political life, who describes fair play and justice to all sections and industries should cast his vote against such a matchless champion of the people's rights and when the battle is over it will be seen that a large majority has not done it.

In this issue of the News the announcement of Mr. R. L. Durham for Commonwealth's Attorney in the Eleventh district, composed of the counties of Green, Taylor Marion and Washington appears, subject to the result of a Democratic primary to be held Saturday December 19, 1908. Mr. Durham is the present incumbent, and he has made a very efficient officer. He is popular throughout the district, and as he has been diligent from the time he assumed the duties of the office, we believe that he is entitled to be endorsed, and we further believe that the voters of the district will so decide. Therefore, we urge that all Democrats in the Eleventh district be at their respective voting places on Saturday the 19th of December and cast their ballots for R. L. Durham.

William Howard Taft entered upon his Kentucky campaign last Thursday at Ashland. He made several short speeches on his trip through the State on the C. and O. railroad to Louisville. At Lexington he spoke for one hour and at Louisville Thursday night he made another speech somewhat longer. Mr. Taft was greeted by good crowds, although at Frankfort and Shelbyville he was interrupted by shouts for Bryan. These outbursts on the part of Democrats apparently nettled the Republican candidate. Mr. Taft's voice was affected from the arduous campaigning of the past week and it was difficult at times to hear his words.

William J. Bryan closed his three-day's campaign tour in Nebraska last Thursday. As on the two previous days Mr. Bryan was accorded a remarkable series of ovations at the twenty places where he delivered speeches. He spoke vigorously and aggressively and the crowds responded heartily with cheers. At the close of the day Mr. Bryan said he had been compelled to raise his estimate of the size of the Democratic majority in Nebraska. He left at late hour Thursday night for Colorado.

The Republican newspapers are keeping in close touch with Mr. Taft's gains. The Louisville Post of Saturday contained an article, claiming North Carolina. Is not that distressing information for the Democrats? The Republicans will certainly concede us Texas.

The largest political demonstration ever held in Louisville will be pulled off to-night (Tuesday.) Mr. Bryan will speak at Pheonix Hill, and it is expected that fifty thousand people will be on the grounds—about ten acres.

The Republican National Committee is now demanding $500 apiece from Wall Street men, says Mr. Nathan Straus, who stands ready to prove his assertion.

Out of one canvass into another. The Presidential contest will end on the afternoon of the 3rd of November and the county canvass will open.

Every Democrat in Adair county, should be at the polls on election day and vote for the Bryan electors and for Patterson for Congress.

Mr. Bryan made speeches through Indiana yesterday and at night spoke in Louisville to about ten acres of people.

Mr. Bryan will be in New York the latter days of this month, and will probably close his speaking tour in Illinois.

It is less than two weeks until the election.

ODE TO GOD

[BY GAVRIEL ROMANOVITCH DERSHAVIN.]

Note—This sublime poem was written by Gavriel Romanovitch Dershavin, a Russian lyric poet, born in 1743 and died in 1816. It was translated into English by sir John Bowring, an English writer born in 1792 and died in 1872. Sir John says that this poem has been translated into Japanese by order of the emperor, and is hung up, embroidered in gold, in the temple at Yeddo. It has also been translated into the Chinese and Tartar languages, and, written on a piece of silk, is suspended in the Imperial Palace at Perkin.

O, Thou eternal One! whose presence bright
All space doth occupy, all motion guide;
Unchanged through Time's all devastating flight.
Thou only God! there is no God beside!
Being above all beings! Mighty One!
Whom none can comprehend and none explore;
Who fill'st existence with Thyself alone;
Embracing all,—supporting,—ruling o'er;—
Being whom we call God—and know no more!

In its sublime research, philosophy
May measure out the ocean-deep—may count
The sands or the sun's rays—but, God! for Thee
There is no weight nor measure;—none can mount
Up to thy mysteries; Reason's brightest spark,
Though kindled by Thy light, in vain would try
To trace Thy counsels, infinite and dark;
And thought is lost ere thought can soar so high,
Even like past moments in eternity.

Thou from primeval nothingness didst call
First chaos, then existence;—Lord! on Thee
Eternity had its foundation;—all
Sprung forth from Thee;—of light, joy, harmony,
Sole origin—all life, all beauty Thine.
Thy word created all, and doth create;
Thy splendor fills all space with rays divine.
Thou art, and wert, and shall be! Glorious! Great!
Light-giving, life-sustaining Potentate!

Thy chains the unmeasured universe surround.
Upheld by Thee, by Thee inspired with breath!
Thou the beginning with the end hast bound,
And beautifully mingled life and death!
As sparks mount upwards from the fiery blaze,
So sons are born, so worlds spring forth from Thee;
And as the spangles in the sunny rays
Shine round the silver snow, the pageantry
Of heaven's bright army glitters in Thy praise.

A million torches lighted by Thy hand
Wander unwearied though the blue abyss—
They own Thy power, accomplish Thy command,
All gay with life, all eloquent with bliss.
What shall we call them? Piles of crystal light—
A glorious company of golden streams—
Lamps of celestial ether burning bright—
Suns lighting systems with their joyous beams?
But Thou to these art as the noon to night.

Yes! as a drop of water in the sea,
All this magnificence in Thee is lost:—
What are ten thousand words compared to Thee?
And what am I then? Heaven's unnumbered host,
Though multiplied by myriads, and arrayed
In all the glory of sublimest thought,
Is but an atom in the balance weighed
Against Thy greatness, is a cipher brought Against infinity! What am I then? Nought!

Nought! But the effluence of Thy light divine,
Pervading worlds, hath reach'd my bosom, too;
Yes! in my spirit doth Thy spirit shine
As shines the sun-beam in a drop of dew.
Nought! but I live, and on hope's pinions fly
Eager towards Thy presence; for in Thee
I live, and breathe, and dwell; aspiring high,
Even to the throne of Thy divinity.
I am, O God! and surely Thou must be!

Thou art! directing, guiding all, Thou art!
Direct my understanding then to Thee;
Control my spirit, guide my wandering heart;
Though but an atom 'midst immensity,
Still I am something, fashioned by Thy hand!
I hold a middle rank 'twixt heaven and earth—
On the last verge of mortal being stand,
Close to the realms where angels have their birth,
Just on the boundaries of the spirit-land!
The chain of being is complete in me;
In me is matter's last gradation lost,
And the next step is spirit—Deity!
I can command the lightning and am dust;
A monarch, and a slave,—a worm, a god!
Whence came I here, and how? so marvelously
Constructed and conceived? unknown!—this clod
Lives surely through some higher energy;
For from itself it could not be!

Creator, yes! Thy wisdom and Thy word
Created me! Thou source of life and good!
Thou spirit of my spirit, and my Lord!

It Builds Force

J-21

Thy light, Thy love, in their bright plenitude
Filled me with an immortal soul, to spring
Over the abyss of death, and bade it wear
The garments of eternal day, and wing
Its heavenly flight beyond this little sphere,
Even to its source—to Thee—its Author there.

Oh thoughts ineffable! oh visions blest!
Though worthless our conceptions all of Thee,
Yet shall Thy shadowed image fill our breast,
And waft its homage to Thy Deity.
God! thus alone my lowly thoughts can soar,
Thus seek Thy presence—Being wise and good?
Midst Thy vast works admire, obey, adore;
And when the tongue is eloquent no more,
The soul shall speak in tears of gratitude.

Bryan And Prosperity.

Mr. Bryan in one of his speeches in Iowa said the panic is here. It comes when the Rubicans are in complete control. They have a President whom they eulogize in their platform, a Senate completely in the hands of the Republican party, a Republican House of Representatives dominated by a despotic Speaker. We can assume, therefore, that they have done everything they could do consistently. Their policies seek to prevent the panic, and yet the panic is here. It comes, too, when we have a tariff so high that even the Republicans promise unequivocally to revise it immediately, and Mr. Taft has ventured the opinion that the revision will probably be downward.

In amount the failures of the last 9 months exceed in number the failures of the corresponding nine months of 1893 and the difference between assets and liabilities is greater this year than it was in 1893, although the total amount of the liabilities was greater in 1892 than this year. But, it must be remembered that the McKinley law was still in force in 1892. It was in force until the summer of 1893. The Wilson bill was not passed until the summer of 1894. The failures of that year were not as great either in number or in the amount of liabilities as they are this year. The failures of 1895 were not as great in amount or in total liabilities as they are this year. The failures in 1896 were not equal to the failures of this year in number or in amount of liabilities, and yet in 1896, the Republicans were talking about a Democratic panic and promising prosperity.

HOW CAN THEY EXPLAIN.

A member of the British Cabinet said recently in a speech that the exports of cotton goods from Lancashire had increased 11 per cent over last year and he declared that the cotton exports of the United States had fallen off 45 per cent. in the same period. If this is true, how will the protectionist explain it?

The Republican party cannot escape from its record. It is important to protect the public, because its policies have for their object not the advancement of the general welfare but the enrichment of a relatively small number of the people at the expense of the rest of the people. If we are to have prosperity we must restore independence in industry. The Republican party does not promise this. On the contrary it pledges itself to a continuation of the policies under which trusts have grown and fattened at the expense of the public.

The Democratic party does promise to prevent the creation of private monopolies. To have prosperity we must have harmonious co-operation between capital and labor. The Republican party does not promise this. On the contrary, it promises to continue the policies which estranged labor and capital and have made labor troubles acute. The Democratic party promises justice between labor and capital and a restoration of peace and friendship between employer and employee.

PROTECTION OF DEPOSITS.

To have prosperity we must protect the depositors and thus induce them to take their money out of hiding and restore it to the channels of trade. The Republican party does not promise protection of deposits. The Democratic party does. The Democratic party promises legislation which will insure depositors. The man who puts his money in a bank must know that he can withdraw it any time, and this security should be given by the banks because the banks made their money out of their depositors. If we are going to have prosperity we must have a reduction in the tariff. The people recognize the tariff is extortionate. Even the Republican leaders are forced to admit this, and yet they are deliberately planning to prevent any real revision by electing a standpad Congress. If the Republican party wins it will not revise the tariff in the interests of the consumer, and that means that the present agitation must continue for four years longer.

Do the business men want business unsettled? Do the business men want an extension of this agitation? Do they want business to be unsettled by four years of discussion over tariff rates? If the Democratic party wins there will be an immediate reduction of the tariff which will satisfy the public demand and remove the tariff question from

What is medicine for? To cure you, if sick, you say. But one medicine will not cure every kind of sickness, because different medicines act on different parts of the body. One medicine goes to the liver, another to the spine, Wine of Cardui to the womanly organs. So that is why has proven so efficacious in most cases of womanly disease. Try it!

Mrs. Wm. Turner, of Bartonville, Ill., writes: "I suffered for years with female diseases, and doctored without relief. My back and head would hurt me, and I suffered agony with bearing-down pains. At last I took Wine of Cardui and now I am in good health." Sold everywhere, in $1.00 bottles.

politics for a number of years. A Democratic victory means prosperity, prosperity to all the people, a prosperity that will be permanent.—E. Town News.

There has not been a season for many years when the prices of eggs have held up as they have this year. In July and August it is not unusual for the farmer to receive thirty cents per dozen for eggs, to say nothing of the prices of egg that are assorted and packed in boxes for fancy trade. The large crops of grain and potatoes that are being raised this year over the whole country should induce farmers to keep larger flocks. Eggs are now selling for a higher price, proportionately, than any other article produced on the farm.—Ex.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw: one on my hand and one on my leg. Shot His Mother.

In Jessamine county, Monday, Raymond Davis, aged 18, shot and seriously injured his mother, Mrs. Hester Davis. According to the statement made by young Davis to a friend after the shooting, he and his mother had been quarreling and she had struck him several times. He made the threat that he would shoot himself and in the scramble which followed for possession of the gun it exploded, the ball striking Mrs. Davis in the stomach, inflicting a serious wound. Drs. Welsh and Fish were called and they pronounced her condition very critical. It is said that Mrs. Davis told the doctors that the shooting was not accidental, but that he had been quarreling with her, and threatening to kill her and the quarrel which ended in her being shot is the result of his threat.

Education of Heart and Head.

A Chicago professor lately presented to his class in college the following list of questions that he declared ought to be answered satisfactorily by every man before he received his degree of Bachelor of Arts:

Do you see anything to love in a little child?

Have you sympathy with all good causes?

Can you look straight into the eyes of an honest man or a pure woman?

Will a lonely dog follow you?

Do you believe in lending a helping hand to weaker men?

Do you believe in taking advantage of the law when you can do so?

Can you be high-minded and happy in drudgery?

Can you see as much beauty in washing dishes and hoeing corn as in playing golf and the piano?

Do you know the value of time and money?

Are you good friends with yourself?

Do you see anything in life besides dollars and cents?

Can you see sunshine in a mud puddle?

Can you see beyond the stars?

Says an exchange of the Chicago philosopher: "He has hit upon a great truth; for an education that inculcates kindness, helpfulness, pure living, the love of honest labor, the sunniest optimism as to the present, and a firm trust in God for the future is worth more than all the other kinds of training put together."—The Classmate.

And the curse of sin runs free, But if we keep the paths so narrow

Soon the Savior we shall see.

Just a few more days of sorrow

On this wide, wide world to roam,

Then our trials will be over And we'll reign in peace at home.

Know this that every child is free

To say what kind of man he'll be;

And to him 'tis also given To make his home in hell or heaven.

Look on the bright side, children, Deep sorrows do not hold,

For the deepest cloud is often Tinged with the brightest gold.

Man was made to sorrow While through this life we roam

But on some bright to-morrow, Sweet heaven may be our home.

Nothing is fair or good alone, And for all sin we should atone;

For here we know we can not stay

As this vain world must pass away.

On the hills of bliss eternal Where the Savior now doth reign,

We may meet again dear children,

If from sin you will refrain.

Promise now that you will meet me

In that land so bright and fair, Where our Savior's gone before us

A bright mansion to prepare.

Questions that are hard to answer

In the course of time arise, But be patient my dear children

And we'll meet beyond the skies.

Read the Holy Scriptures, children,

They alone can comfort give, Whether poor and weak and needy

Or in riches you do live.

Some sweet day we'll cross death's river

To a far and unknown side, But if we've obeyed the Gospel

Jesus Christ will be our guide.

To that land of royal pleasure Where the tree of life doth grow,

And where life's pure crystal river

From the throne of God doth flow.

Union gives us strength, dear children,

For the daily toils of life; Yes, if we will help each other

It is better far than strife.

Vain and idle thoughts may lead us

In the paths of sin and shame, And may check the pearly progress

Of life's book that bears our name.

When you meet a weaker brother, Lend to him a helping hand,

And the master will reward you When you reach that heavenly land.

Xanthic metal, oft called gold, Is no treasure of the soul

It serves you though here while you live

But lasting pleasure cannot give.

You should love the Savior, children,

Who so freely died for thee; And must treat each other kindly

If the Savior you would see.

Zenith is the highest point To which we may arise,

Until we bid this earth adieu And mount beyond the skies.

Robert Lee Campbell.

Laboring men, when they cast their votes next November, may rest assured that they will not go far wrong in following the advice of men who have grown gray in the service of the cause of labor, and who have always the interest of the workers at heart, in preference to the advice of those who are avowed enemies of organized labor at all times, except just a few weeks before election—Duluth (Minn.), Labor World.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery.
